++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rather cloudy Wednesday, but northeast UK brighter and warmer.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mild and often cloudy across southern and western areas, with a little rain or drizzle and hill fog in places. Rain briefly heavier across the far north but some northeastern areas hanging onto clear spells. Breezy in the north.

Wednesday:
Northeastern areas seeing the best of the sunshine and turning out warm. Elsewhere, cloud and patchy drizzle at first but some brighter warmer spells possible by afternoon. Breezy in north.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Cloudy start Thursday, before cloud breaks and a few showers, possibly heavy, develop. Fine for many Friday, before rain in the west spreads erratically east Saturday. Becoming rather warm.
